

Personal information

Born in Budapest, February 13 1986

Married, father of two children

High-school studies

Between 1998 and 2004 he was a student at ELTE Apáczai Csere János High School and College in Budapest.

University studies

Between 2004 and 2012, he studied at the Eötvös Loránd University Faculty of Government and Law, and in 2012 graduated in law and political science.

First steps in public administration

Between 2009 and 2012, he was a legal expert at the Ministry of Justice

Years at the Századvég Foundation

In 2012 he became an employee of the Századvég Foundation (a conservative think tank), where he was a regulatory expert until 2013, then the Foundation's research director from 2013. Until 2018, he managed and coordinated public law and public policy research at the Foundation. Between 2016 and 2018, he was a member of the board of trustees of the Századvég Foundation.

Head of the Migration Research Institute

Between 2015 and 2019, he was the first director of the Migration Research Institute jointly founded by Századvég and the Mathias Corvinus Collegium.

Hungarian youth in the service of the nation

From 2015 he was an assistant professor at the University of Public Service. Since 2018 he has been the chairman of the Advisory Board, and is responsible, among other things, for the development and modernization of the university.

Government role

Between 2018 and 2022, he was Deputy Minister and Parliamentary and Strategic State Secretary to the Prime Minister's Office.

Talent management as a national strategic issue

Since 2020 he has been chairman of the board of trustees at the Mathias Corvinus Collegium.

The Prime Minister's Political Director

Since August 23, 2021 he has been Prime Minister Viktor Orbán's political director

Member of Parliament

Since 2022 he has been a Member of Parliament for Fidesz.

